I. INTRODUCTION

Plaintiffs and Defendants Uber Technologies, Inc. and Rasier, LLC (collectively, “Defendants” or “Uber”) have reached a settlement that, if approved, will resolve claims arising out of Defendants’ representations and omissions regarding the safety of Defendants’ Rideshare Service, Defendants’ so-called “Safe Rides Fee,” and their drivers’ background checks. The Stipulation of Settlement filed on February 11, 2016 as ECF Docket No. 74 (“Settlement” or “Stip.”),¹ would require Defendants to establish a non-reversionary cash Settlement Fund in the amount of $28.5 million, and to distribute that Fund to Class Members, using Uber’s infrastructure, which is an additional benefit that has the estimated value of $1,875,000. (Stip. Ex. I at ¶ 38.) The Settlement also provides significant injunctive relief to Class Members by precluding Defendants from naming any fee associated with their service a “Safe Rides Fee” and from using certain terms in Commercial Advertising regarding safety and background checks, among other relief.

The Settlement is the product of extensive and complex arms’ length negotiations between experienced and informed counsel, including multiple mediation sessions with the Hon. Carl West, a retired complex litigation judge with substantial experience in class action litigation and settlement, as well as numerous in-person meetings and telephonic conferences between counsel. It is fair, reasonable, and adequate given the claims, the alleged harm, and the Parties’ respective litigation risks, and is well within the “range of reasonableness” standard applicable at the preliminary approval stage. In re Tableware Antitrust Litig., 484 F. Supp. 2d 1078, 1080 (N.D. Cal. 2007).

The Settlement also provides for an effective notice program, featuring direct notice to potential Class Members as well as internet advertising and publication, all of which are well-tailored to disseminate the best notice practicable. Accordingly, Plaintiffs ask this Court to grant preliminary approval of the Settlement and issue the concurrently filed [Proposed] Preliminary Approval Order.

II. SUMMARY OF LITIGATION, INVESTIGATION, AND SETTLEMENT

A. The Original Complaints and Relation of the Cases

On December 23, 2014, plaintiffs Philliben and McKnight filed a nationwide class action, No.

¹ Unless otherwise stated, capitalized terms have the same meaning as in the Settlement.

3:14-cv-05615 (“Philliben”), which asserted causes of action for alleged violations of California’s False Advertising Law (“FAL”), Cal. Bus. & Prof. Code §17500 et seq., and California’s Unfair Competition Law (“UCL”), Cal. Bus. & Prof. Code §17200 et seq., and which alleged, inter alia, misrepresentations and omissions regarding Defendants’ “Safe Rides Fee,” their safety measures, alleged expenditures, and the nature of the driver background checks. (Philliben Dkt. 1.)

On January 6, 2015, Andrea Pappey filed a nationwide (or in the alternative California, Illinois, and Massachusetts) class action, No. 3:15-cv-00064 (“Mena”). This complaint was later amended and Plaintiffs Mena, Schreiber, Coolidge, and Mejia joined as class representatives, while Andrea Pappey withdrew. Mena alleged breach of implied contract; violations of California’s Consumers Legal Remedies Act (“CLRA”), Cal. Civ. Code §1750 et seq.; and violations of the UCL, FAL, and the Illinois Consumer Fraud Act, 815 ILCS 502/2, et seq. (“ICFA”) in connection with alleged misrepresentations and omissions regarding Defendants’ Safe Rides Fee, their safety measures, alleged expenditures, and the nature and character of the driver background checks. (Mena Dkt. 28.)

The Court granted a joint stipulation to relate these cases on February 18, 2015. (Philliben Dkt. 23; Mena Dkt. 19.) Plaintiffs’ Counsel then cooperated in organizing a leadership structure to effectively and efficiently prosecute the claims on behalf of Plaintiffs and the proposed Class. (Declaration of Robert R. Ahdoot filed concurrently herewith (“Ahdoot Decl.”)² ¶ 5; see also id. at ¶¶ 9-14 (providing additional background).)

B. The Arbitration Motions

On March 20, 2015, Defendants filed a Motion to Stay Proceedings Pending Arbitration in Philliben. (Philliben Dkt. 25-29, 38-40), which the Philliben plaintiffs opposed (id. Dkt. 37). On May 4, 2015, Defendants filed a similar motion in Mena (Mena Dkt. 31-36, 39-41), which the Mena plaintiffs opposed (id. Dkt. 37-38). The Mena plaintiffs also filed an Objection to and Motion to Strike Reply Evidence (id. Dkt. 42), and the Court granted the Mena plaintiffs leave to file a Sur-reply, which was ² A redacted version of the Ahdoot Decl. was previously filed as ECF Docket No. 75-5. Pursuant to the Court’s July 7, 2016 Order Granting Motion To Seal And Granting Motion For Modification Of Order on Motion To Seal (Dkt. No. 94), the Ahdoot Decl. is filed concurrently herewith with revised redactions.

1 filed on June 9, 2015. (Id. Dkt. 45.) On June 10, 2015, the Mena plaintiffs filed a Statement of Recent
 2 Decision in connection with the arbitration motion. (Id. Dkt. 46.)

3 C. The Consolidated Class Action Complaint

4 On January 7, 2016, plaintiffs filed a Consolidated Amended Complaint asserting claims for 5 breach of implied contract and violations of the CLRA, UCL, FAL, and ICFA. (Philliben Dkt. 67
 6 (hereinafter, the “CAC”).) The CAC alleges, inter alia, that Uber charges a Safe Rides Fee without 7 properly disclosing it prior to the ride (CAC ¶¶ 41, 54-58, 61, 64), and that Uber makes a number of 8 representations and/or omissions regarding its safety efforts, expenditures, and background checks. (Id.
 9 ¶¶ 25, 26-27, 29-40, 65). Plaintiffs also assert that Uber does not use the Safe Rides Fee to pay for the 10 alleged safety-related services, and thus the term is itself a misrepresentation. (Id. ¶¶ 79, 89.) Defendants 11 dispute the allegations and deny any and all liability.

12 D. Settlement Negotiations

13 More than six months ago, and after the arbitration motions were fully briefed, the parties began 14 discussing possible settlement, which resulted in a long series of arms’ length negotiations, including 15 three full days of mediation and numerous face-to-face and telephonic meetings between counsel and 16 with the mediator. (Ahdoot Decl. ¶ 15.)

17 The Honorable Carl West (Ret.) of JAMS served as the mediator. Judge West is a highly 18 respected and experienced class action mediator, who joined JAMS following eighteen years on the 19 bench, spending the most recent ten years as a judge with the Los Angeles County Superior Court’s
 20 complex litigation panel. (Id. ¶ 17.)

21 In connection with the mediation, Plaintiffs requested substantial information from Defendants,
 22 and, to ensure that this information could be timely provided, the Parties filed a Stipulation With 23 Proposed Order For A Second Temporary Stay Pending Mediation on July 29, 2015 (Mena Dkt. 52; 24 Philliben Dkt. 51) as well as a Stipulation and Protective Order (Mena Dkt. 49; Philliben Dkt. 50),
 25 which was entered by the Court on August 3, 2015 (Mena Dkt. 51; Philliben Dkt. 52). The parties
 26 participated in three full days of in-person mediation on August 24, 2015, October 2, 2015, and on 27 October 30, 2015, and numerous additional meetings and telephone calls, between counsel. (Ahdoot
 28 Decl. ¶¶ 16, 19.) The parties finally reached a settlement in principle in December 2015. (Id. ¶ 21.)

1 The parties then began memorializing the full Settlement, which generated numerous additional 2 rounds of comprehensive and often spirited negotiations. The parties extensively negotiated each aspect
 3 of the Settlement, including each of its nine exhibits. For example, counsel negotiated and meticulously
 4 refined the notice program and each document comprising the notice (the Long Form Notice, Summary
 5 Notice, and Banner Ads), with the assistance of a class action notice expert, to ensure that the 6 information disseminated to Class Members is clear and concise. (Id. ¶ 23.)

7 E. Plaintiffs' Counsel's Investigation

8 Before initiating these Actions, Plaintiffs' Counsel investigated the underlying facts and 9 analyzed the veracity of the claims. They researched Defendants' representations, marketing, business
 10 practices and promotional efforts, interviewed users of Uber's Rideshare Service and a number of Uber 11 drivers, and investigated facts and applicable law and standards relating to background checks and 12 commercial transportation service safety. Furthermore, Plaintiffs' Counsel researched and analyzed the 13 merits of the potential causes of action, and defenses, under state statutory and common law. (Id. ¶ 6.)

14 Plaintiffs' counsel continued these efforts after filing the Actions and before entering into the 15 Settlement, and conducted a thorough examination, investigation, and evaluation of the relevant law and 16 facts to assess the merits of the claims and defenses. (Id. ¶ 7.)

17 Plaintiffs submitted comprehensive requests for information regarding their allegations and 18 Defendants' anticipated defenses, and Defendants provided thousands of pages of responsive documents
 19 and sworn responses. Plaintiffs' Counsel thoroughly analyzed and evaluated all information provided,
 20 including documents bearing on Defendants' background checks, alleged safety expenditures, the Safe
 21 Rides Fee and resulting revenues, and Defendants' representations, advertising, and marketing regarding 22 safety. (Id. ¶ 27.) Plaintiffs' investigation also included a detailed inspection and testing of Defendants'
 23 ride share App across various operating system platforms, consultations with experts, interviews of 24 witnesses, drivers, and putative class members, the evaluation of documents and information related to 25 other litigation against Defendants, as well as extensive factual and legal research regarding arbitration,
 26 the sufficiency of the claims, and the appropriateness of class certification. (Id. ¶ 28.)

27 Plaintiffs' Counsel conducted ten extensive interviews of key witnesses over the course of three 28 days at Uber's offices and other locations in San Francisco. Counsel interviewed current and former high level Uber employees with direct knowledge of the facts at issue in the Actions, including safety representations, safety measures, alleged safety expenditures, details regarding the Safe Rides Fee, user databases, and other relevant areas of Uber's operations. (Id. ¶ 29.)

III. THE PROPOSED SETTLEMENT

A. The Class To Be Certified for Settlement Purposes

Plaintiffs seek certification of the following Class for settlement purposes:

All persons who, from January 1, 2013 to January 31, 2016, used the Uber smartphone application ("App") or website to obtain service from one of Uber's Rideshare Services in the United States or its territories and who have a U.S. Payment Profile. "Uber's Rideshare Services" means all transportation services that are arranged through the App or website, regardless of type of ride or service that is requested (such as UberX, UberSUV, UberBlack, UberPool, etc.). "U.S. Payment Profile" means that the payment method associated with the person's most recent U.S. trip (as of January 31, 2016) is a credit card or debit card issued in the U.S., or any other payment method (Google Wallet, PayPal, etc.). "Uber" means the companies, incorporated in the State of Delaware as Uber Technologies, Inc. and Raiser, LLC, who operate the ride share service commonly known as Uber. Excluded from the Class are (a) all persons who are employees, directors, and officers of Uber Technologies, Inc. and Raiser, LLC; and (b) the Court and Court staff.

(Stip. ¶ 3.) Compared to the class alleged in the CAC, this Class has been refined to include only, and define more precisely, U.S. riders. The time period of the Class has changed slightly, and now ends January 31, 2016, instead of "the date that notice of this class action is disseminated." (CAC ¶ 138.)

B. Monetary Relief

Defendants will pay $28.5 million in cash to create the Settlement Fund, which will be used for payments to Class Members, the costs of notice and settlement administration (including transaction costs for payments to Class Member's Uber Payment Accounts),³ Court-approved Service Awards, and Attorneys' Fees and Expenses. (Stip. ¶ 48.) The Settlement Fund cannot revert to Defendants. (Id. ¶ 45.) Uber will distribute each Class Member's Settlement Share,⁴ through its infrastructure, providing an estimated additional $1,875,000 in settlement value, by reducing the administrative costs to the Class. (Stip. ¶¶ 55-74 & Ex. I ¶ 38.)

³ The Settlement Administrator estimates that administration costs will range between $300,000 and $500,000, and has agreed that in no event will the costs exceed $800,000. (Stip. Ex. I ¶ 37.)

⁴ "Settlement Share" is each Class Member's per capita share of the Settlement Fund. (Stip. ¶ 34.)

1. Distribution of the Settlement Fund

Class Members will automatically receive their Settlement Share. They may choose to (1) have it paid to their default payment method on file with Uber (credit card, PayPal, etc.) or (2) paid to their Uber Rider Account (meaning it will be paid towards their next Uber ride), by submitting the Payment Election Form (Stip. ¶¶ 55-74 & Ex. C) within sixty (60) days from the Notice Date.⁵ In the event Class Members do not submit a Payment Election Form, the Settlement Share will be automatically paid to their Uber Rider Account.⁶ If Class Members who receive the Settlement Share as a payment towards their next Uber ride do not use Uber's Rideshare Service within 365 days of the Effective Date, Defendants will pay the Settlement Share such Class Members' default payment method on file with Uber.⁷ (Stip. ¶ 64.) Prior to payment of the Settlement Share to an Uber Payment Account, the Settlement Administrator will send emails to the respective Class Members reminding them to ensure that payment information is current. (Id. ¶ 83.)

While the Settlement makes every effort to confer the Settlement Shares to Class Members (see e.g. Stip. ¶¶ 55-74), in the event the entire amount of the Settlement Fund is not paid to Class Members,⁸ any residual will be paid to the National Consumer Law Center ("NCLC"). (Id. ¶ 75.)⁹

2. Class Members' Estimated Individual Recovery

The Settlement Fund of $28.5 million presents an overall value of approximately $1.14 per Class

⁵ The Payment Election Form can be submitted online or by mail, and will be available upon request or by download on the Settlement website.

⁶ Defendants' data indicate that Class Members are extremely likely to re-use Uber and, thus, benefit from payment of their Settlement Share to their Uber Rider Account. (Ahdoot Decl. ¶¶ 32, 40.)

⁷ This refers to the "Uber Payment Account," meaning the default credit card, debit card, PayPal account, or other payment method linked to each Class Member's Uber Rider Account. (Stip. ¶ 38.) "Uber Rider Account" means the account each Class Member created when he or she electronically registered to use Uber's Rideshare Services. (Stip. ¶ 39.)

⁸ Given the transaction costs involved in each attempt to pay the default payment account of each Class Member, Uber will only attempt payment once. (Stip. ¶ 64.)

⁹ The Parties carefully selected NCLC in compliance with Lane v. Facebook, Inc., 696 F.3d 811, 820 (9th Cir. 2012), and Dennis v Kellogg, 697 F.3d 858 (9th Cir. 2012). As set forth in the Declaration of Richard Dubois filed on February 11, 2016 as ECF Docket No. 76 ("Dubois Decl."), NCLC is a non-profit organization committed to protecting consumers and promoting fairness in the marketplace. It has committed to use any cy pres funds to support consumer education. (Dubois Decl. ¶ 12.)

Member, based on a Class size of 25 million Members.¹⁰ Accounting for the costs of administration, attorneys' fees, service awards, and transaction costs, each Class Member's Settlement Share will amount to approximately $0.82. (Ahdoon Decl. ¶¶ 67-68.) However evaluated, the Settlement's value on a per-Class-Member basis is significant compared to the average initial Safe Rides Fee of $1.12 paid by Class Members prior to disclosure of that fee after their first Uber ride (Id. ¶ 41), and compared to the maximum potential recovery, described in Section V.D.2, below, which amounts to $5.33 per Class Member (and does not account for any costs or fees).

C. Injunctive Relief

Uber has agreed to the following significant measures as part of the Settlement:

(a) Defendants will not describe or title any fee that they charge for their services, including any charge for Uber's Rideshare Services, as the "Safe Rides Fee."

(b) In any Commercial Advertising,¹¹ Defendants will not make the following representations regarding their background checks:

(i) Defendants shall not list any offense type that does not result in automatic disqualification as a driver during the initial screening process without explaining the disqualification criteria; and

(ii) Defendants shall not represent that they screen against arrests for any instances where Defendants actually screen only against convictions.

(c) In any Commercial Advertising regarding background checks, Defendants shall identify the time period covered by the background check report Defendants use to screen potential drivers or, if shorter, any time period used for disqualification purposes.

(d) In any Commercial Advertising, Defendants shall not use the terms "best available," "industry leading," "gold standard," "safest," or "best-in-class" in connection with their background checks.

¹¹ "Commercial Advertising" means any print advertisements, television or radio advertisements, online advertisements, in-app advertisements, or any mass e-mails or other written or electronic communications from Defendants to consumers made for the purpose of influencing consumers to buy Defendants' services. To constitute Commercial Advertising, the advertisement must be disseminated sufficiently to the relevant purchasing public to constitute advertising or promotion within Defendants' industry. Commercial Advertising includes advertorials but does not include statements to the news media. (Stip. ¶7.)

(e) In any Commercial Advertising, Defendants shall not use the following phrases to describe Uber's Rideshare Services: "safest ride on the road," "strictest safety standards possible," "safest experience on the road," "best in class safety and accountability," "safest transportation option," "background checks that exceed any local or national standard," or "safest possible platform."

(Stip. ¶ 47.) The Settlement thus addresses substantially all of the objectionable conduct alleged in the CAC, despite Defendants' denial of liability. As part of the Settlement, Defendants agree to no longer charge any fee entitled "Safe Rides Fee." Defendants may charge a "booking fee," which they may describe as "a separate flat fee added to every trip that helps support safety initiatives for riders and drivers as well as other operational costs." (Stip. p. 6.)

The CAC alleges a number of additional representations regarding Uber's safety standards that Plaintiffs contend are false or misleading (CAC ¶¶ 25-40) and, although Defendants disagree with such contentions, they have agreed to clarify their alleged safety-related Commercial Advertising. Uber's safety webpage (www.uber.com/safety) will include the following disclaimer so long as it remains in use, specifically designed to remedy the alleged misstatements, most of which were disseminated through that same webpage: "The screening process does not require fingerprints, Live Scan, or the Department of Justice or FBI databases." (Stip. p. 6.)

D. Dissemination of Notice to the Class

Class Members will directly receive the Summary Notice (Stip., Ex. G) to the email addresses associated with their Uber Rider Accounts. (Stip. ¶ 80(d)(i) & Ex. I ¶¶ 17-18.) According to Defendants, they do not collect or maintain Class Members' physical mailing addresses, but they do maintain email addresses and, based on Uber's recent emails to its customers, approximately 95% of the email addresses are likely to be valid. (Ahdoot Decl. ¶¶ 36-39.)

The notice program will also include Internet advertising, including sponsored search listings on major search engines and banner ads appearing on a network of various websites. (Stip. ¶ 80(d)(ii) & Ex. I ¶ 21-23.) The Long Form Notice (Stip. Ex. E) will be made available on a settlement website (www.RideShareSettlement.com) and upon request through a toll-free number. (Stip. ¶¶ 80(d)(iii), 80(c).) A Publication Notice (Stip. Ex. H) also will be published in accordance with the CLRA (Cal. Civ. Code § 1781(d)). (Stip. ¶¶ 80(d)(ii) & Ex. I ¶ 20.) The notice plan will reach no less than 80% of

1 Class Members, and likely over 90%.¹² (Stip. Ex. I ¶ 16.)

2 The Summary Notice will refer Class Members to the Settlement website, which will make
3 available the Long Form Notice, Payment Election Form, Stipulation, and other relevant Court
4 documents. (Stip. ¶ 80(b) & Ex. I ¶ 19.) The toll-free number will also provide Settlement-related
5 information. (Id. ¶ 80(c) & Ex. I ¶ 25.) Finally, Defendants will comply with the requirements of 28
6 U.S.C. §1715 (“CAFA”) (Stip. ¶ 77), and Plaintiffs’ Counsel will place links to the Settlement website
7 on the homepages of their websites.

8 E. Service Awards to Class Representatives

9 The Settlement allows each Plaintiff to apply for a Service Award no later than 14 days prior to 10 the objection/exclusion deadline, to be paid out of the Settlement Fund. (Id. ¶ 119.) There is no
11 agreement between the parties as to the amount of this request nor is the Settlement conditioned on the 12 Service Awards. Plaintiffs’ intention to seek no more than $500 for each Class Representative is 13 disclosed on the notice forms (see, e.g., Stip., Ex. E). Should the Court award less than the amount 14 sought, the balance will remain in the Settlement Fund and be applied toward the calculation of the 15 Settlement Shares for Class Members. (Id. ¶ 33.)

16 F. Attorneys’ Fees and Expenses

17 Plaintiffs’ Counsel will apply for an Attorneys’ Fees and Expense Award to be paid from the 18 Settlement Fund. (Id. ¶¶ 85-88.) There is no agreement between Plaintiffs and Defendants regarding the 19 amount of Plaintiffs’ attorneys’ fees or expenses.¹³ (Id.) Plaintiffs will apply for the award of fees and 20 expenses no later than 14 days prior to the objection/exclusion deadline, and will not seek fees in excess
21 of 25% of the Settlement Fund. See, e.g. In re Bluetooth Headset Prods. Liab. Litig., 654 F.3d 935, 942
22 (9th Cir. 2011). This maximum amount is stated on the relevant notice forms. (E.g. Stip. Ex. E.) Should 23 the Court award less than the amount ultimately sought, the balance will remain in the Settlement Fund
24 and be applied toward the calculation of the Settlement Shares for Class Members. (Id. ¶ 33.)

25
26 ¹² “It is reasonable to reach between 70–95% [of the class].” FEDERAL JUDICIAL CENTER, JUDGES’
CLASS ACTION NOTICE AND CLAIMS PROCESS CHECKLIST AND PLAIN LANGUAGE GUIDE 3 (2010).

27 ¹³ Moreover, the procedure for, and the allowance or disallowance of any attorneys’ fees, costs, 28 expenses, or reimbursement is not part of the Settlement and is to be considered separately from the fairness, reasonableness, and adequacy of the Settlement. (Stip. ¶ 88.)

G. Release Provisions

If the Court grants final approval of the proposed Settlement, Class Members will be deemed to have released Defendants of all claims, known or unknown, that were asserted or could have been asserted in the litigation. (Id. ¶¶ 26, 89-90.) Claims for personal injury, however, are excluded. (Id. ¶ 26.) The Released Claims are tied to “the allegations in the Action,” which are the claims alleged in the CAC. (Id.)

H. Opt-Out Procedure and Opportunity to Object

Any potential Class Member may request to be excluded from the Class by sending a written request to the Settlement Administrator postmarked on or before a date no later than 90 days after the the Court enters an order preliminarily approving the Settlement. (Stip. Exs. D-E.) Valid requests must include information described in the Notice, including a statement that the person sending the request wishes to be excluded from the Class. (Id. ¶ 116 & Ex. E.)

Any Class Member who does not request to be excluded may object to the Settlement, Class Counsel’s fee application, and/or the requests for Service Awards. (Id. ¶ 114.) To be considered, an objection must either be mailed to the Class Action Clerk or filed with the Court, and must be in writing, personally signed by the objector, and include the information prescribed by the Notice. (Id. Exs. D-E.)

IV. CLASS ACTION TREATMENT IS APPROPRIATE

The Court should certify the Class because Rule 23(a) and 23(b)(3) are satisfied.¹⁴

A. This Action Satisfies the Requirements of Rule 23(a)

“The four requirements of Rule 23(a) are commonly referred to as ‘numerosity,’ ‘commonality,’ ‘typicality,’ and ‘adequacy of representation’ (or just ‘adequacy’), respectively.” United Steel, Paper & Forestry, Rubber, Mfg. Energy, Allied Indus. & Serv. Workers Int’l Union, AFL-CIO v. ConocoPhillips Co., 593 F.3d 802, 806 (9th Cir. 2010).

¹⁴ A court may certify a class solely for settlement purposes. Keirsev v. eBay, Inc., No. 12-CV-01200-JST, 2013 WL 5755047, at *2 (N.D. Cal. Oct. 23, 2013) (certifying class for settlement purposes); In re Wireless Facilities, Inc. Sec. Litig. II, 253 F.R.D. 607, 610 (S.D. Cal. 2008) (“Parties may settle a class action before class certification and stipulate that a defined class be conditionally certified for settlement purposes.”).

1 1. The Class Is Numerous

2 The Class includes almost 25 million members (Ahdoot Decl. ¶ 32), easily satisfying the 3 numerosity requirement of Rule 23(a)(1).

4 2. The Action Presents Common Questions

5 Rule 23(a)(2) requires that “there [be] questions of law or fact common to the class,”¹⁵ and also 6 is satisfied. Common questions include whether Defendants’ representations and omissions regarding 7 the Safe Rides Fee and Defendants’ safety practices were misleading, whether revenues were used for 8 the stated purpose, whether the statements created implied contracts with the Class Members, whether 9 such contracts were breached, and whether defendants’ practices violated the law.

10 3. Plaintiffs’ Claims Are Typical

11 Rule 23(a)(3)’s requirement that “the claims or defenses of the representative parties are typical 12 of the claims or defenses of the class” also is satisfied because plaintiffs’ claims are “reasonably co-
13 extensive with those of absent class members.” Hanlon v. Chrysler Corp., 150 F.3d 1011, 1020 (9th Cir.
14 1998). The Plaintiffs’ claims stem from the same common course of conduct as the claims of the Class.
15 The injuries suffered by Plaintiffs are the same as those of the Class and result from Defendants’ safety-
16 related representations, omissions, and the imposition of and disclosures regarding the Safe Rides Fee.
17 Typicality is therefore satisfied. Parsons v. Ryan, 754 F.3d 657, 685 (9th Cir. 2014).

18 4. Plaintiffs and Their Counsel Will Fairly and Adequately Protect the 19 Interests of the Class

20 Rule 23(a)(4) requires that the representative parties will fairly and adequately protect the 21 interests of the class. “Resolution of two questions determines legal adequacy: (1) do the named 22 plaintiffs and their counsel have any conflicts of interest with other class members, and (2) will the 23 named plaintiffs and their counsel prosecute the action vigorously on behalf of the class?” Hanlon, 150

25 _____
26 ¹⁵ See Hanlon v. Chrysler Corp., 150 F.3d 1011, 1019 (9th Cir. 1998); see also Wal-Mart Stores, 27 Inc. v. Dukes, 131 S. Ct. 2541, 2556 (2011). “Commonality requires the plaintiff to demonstrate that the 28 class members have suffered the same injury.” Id. at 2551. This means that the class members’ claims “must depend on a common contention . . . of such a nature that it is capable of class wide resolution—which means that determination of its truth or falsity will resolve an issue that is central to the validity of each one of the claims in one stroke.” Id.

1 F.3d at 1020. There are no conflicts of interest here. Plaintiffs seek the same remedy as all Class
 2 Members: relief to address claims arising from Defendants' safety-related representations and the 3 imposition of, and disclosures regarding, the Safe Rides Fee. Plaintiffs' interests are perfectly aligned
 4 with the interests of the Class.

5 Further, proposed Class Counsel have extensive experience litigating and settling class actions,
 6 including false advertising, breach of contract, and unlawful business practices claims on behalf of 7 consumers. They have demonstrated expertise in handling all aspects of complex litigation and class
 8 actions, and are well qualified to represent the Class. (Ahdoot Decl. Ex. A; Arias Decl. ¶¶ 4-13, Dkt. 78; 9 Coulson Decl. ¶¶ 2-6, Dkt. 77). Plaintiffs and proposed Class Counsel remain fully committed to 10 advancing the interests of, and obtaining relief for, the Class Members, as evidenced by the terms of the 11 Settlement.

12 B. The Predominance and Superiority Requirements of Rule 23(b)(3) are Satisfied

13 "In addition to meeting the conditions imposed by Rule 23(a), the parties seeking class
 14 certification must also show that the action is maintainable under Fed. R. Civ. P. 23(b)(1), (2) or (3)."
 15 Hanlon, 150 F.3d at 1022. Here, Rule 23(b)(3) is satisfied because: (i) the questions of law and fact 16 common to members of the class predominate over any questions affecting only individuals; and (ii) the 17 class action mechanism is superior to any other available methods for the fair and efficient adjudication
 18 of the controversy. Fed. R. Civ. P. 23(b)(3).

19 1. Common Questions of Law and Fact Predominate

20 Rule 23(b)(3) does not require plaintiffs seeking class certification to prove that each element of 21 their claim is susceptible to class-wide proof. See Amgen Inc. v. Connecticut Ret. Plans & Trust Funds, 22 133 S.Ct. 1184, 1196 (2013). Plaintiffs need only show that "common questions 'predominate over any 23 questions affecting only individual [class] members.'" Id. (quoting Fed. Rule Civ. Proc. 23(b)(3)).

24 The claims in this case are based upon uniform conduct and uniform representations and 25 omissions regarding Uber's safety. There are no predominating individual issues because, under 26 Plaintiffs' legal theories, the objective reasonable consumer standard applies to determining liability, as 27 well as to the materiality of the alleged non-disclosures or alleged misrepresentations. See Yokoyama v.
 28 Midland Nat. Life Ins. Co., 594 F.3d 1087, 1089, 1092-93 (9th Cir. 2010) (predominance requirement met where state's consumer protection statute is based upon the objective reasonable consumer standard); Williams v. Gerber Products Co., 552 F.3d 934, 938-39 (9th Cir. 2008) (reasonable consumer standard applies to California's consumer protection statutes); see also In re Apple & AT&TM Antitrust Litig., 596 F. Supp. 2d 1288, 1310-11 (N.D. Cal. 2008) (materiality for purposes of duty to disclose analysis determined by reasonable consumer standard); In re Tobacco II Cases, 46 Cal. 4th 298, 326-27 (2009) (no showing of injury or reliance by absent class members required).

2. A Class Action Is Superior

A class action is superior to other available methods for the fair and efficient adjudication of this controversy. To determine the issue of “superiority,” Rule 23(b)(3) enumerates the following factors for courts to consider: “(A) [T]he interest of members of the class in individually controlling the prosecution . . . of separate actions; (B) the extent and nature of any litigation concerning the controversy already commenced by . . . members of the class; (C) the desirability . . . of concentrating the litigation of the claims in the particular forum; and (D) the difficulties likely to be encountered in the management of a class action.”

Each of these factors supports certifying the Class. First, there is little interest or incentive for Class Members to individually control the prosecution of separate actions. The Class Members’ individual claims are too small to justify the potential litigation costs that would be incurred by prosecuting these claims individually. See Phillips Petroleum Co. v. Shutts, 472 U.S. 797, 809 (1985); Local Joint Exec. Bd. of Culinary/Bartender Trust Fund v. Las Vegas, 244 F.3d 1152, 1163 (9th Cir. 2001); Wolin v. Jaguar Land Rover N. Am., LLC, 617 F.3d 1168, 1175–76 (9th Cir. 2010). Although the injury resulting from Defendants’ alleged misrepresentations and omissions to the Class are real, the cost of individually litigating such a case against Defendants would easily exceed the value of any relief that could be obtained by any one purchaser. This factor alone warrants a finding that a class action is a superior method of adjudication. See Tchoboian v. Parking Concepts, Inc., No. SACV 09-422, 2009 WL 2169883, at *7 (C.D. Cal. Jul. 16, 2009). The claims of each Class Member in this case are virtually identical, thus no one member of the Class would have a materially greater interest in controlling the litigation. See Westways World Travel, Inc. v. AMC Corp., 218 F.R.D. 223, 240 (C.D. Cal. 2003).

Second, certification would be superior because concentrating this litigation in one forum would not only prevent the risk of inconsistent outcomes but would also “reduce litigation costs and promote greater efficiency.” Negrete v. Allianz Life Ins. Co. of N. Am., 238 F.R.D. 482, 493 (C.D. Cal. 2006). This “factor emphasizes the desirability of the forum selected, not the desirability of claims concentration generally.” In re Prudential Ins. Co. of Am. Sales Practice Litig., 962 F. Supp. 450, 524 (D.N.J. 1997). The Northern District is a compelling forum because Defendants are headquartered in San Francisco.

C. Plaintiffs’ Counsel Should Be Appointed Class Counsel Under Rule 23(g)

Rule 23(g)(1) states that “a court that certifies a class must appoint class counsel.” As discussed above, Plaintiffs’ counsel are well-qualified and should be appointed class counsel.

V. THE SETTLEMENT MEETS THE STANDARD FOR PRELIMINARY APPROVAL

Rule 23(e) requires that any settlement of claims brought on a class basis be approved by the Court. There is an “overriding public interest in settling and quieting litigation,” Van Bronkhorst v. Safeco Corp., 529 F.2d 943, 950 (9th Cir. 1976), and the Ninth Circuit “has long deferred to the private consensual decision of the parties” to settle, Rodriguez v. W. Publ’g Corp., 563 F.3d 948, 965 (9th Cir. 2009), vacated on other grounds 688 F.3d 645. Settlements of complex class actions prior to trial are strongly favored. Linney v. Cellular Alaska Partnership, 151 F.3d 1234, 1238 (9th Cir. 1998).

To grant preliminary approval of the proposed Settlement, the Court need only find that it falls within “the range of reasonableness.” In re: TFT-LCD (Flat Panel) Antitrust Litig., No. M 07-1827 SI, 2012 WL 12369590, at *3 (N.D. Cal. Oct. 15, 2012) (quoting In re Tableware Antitrust Litig., 484 F. Supp. 2d 1078, 1079 (N.D. Cal. 2007)). A settlement falls within the range of reasonableness if: “[1] the proposed settlement appears to be the product of serious, informed, non-collusive negotiations, [2] has no obvious deficiencies, [3] does not improperly grant preferential treatment to class representatives or segments of the class, and [4] falls within the range of possible approval.” In re Tableware Antitrust Litig., 484 F. Supp. 2d at 1079 (quoting Manual for Complex Litigation § 30.44 (2d ed. 1985)); see also Smith v. Am. Greetings Corp., No. 14-cv-02577-JST, 2015 WL 4498571 (N.D. Cal. July 23, 2015); Dyer v. Wells Fargo Bank, N.A., No. 13-cv-02858-JST, 2014 WL 1900682 (N.D. Cal. May 12, 2014). Here, each of these four factors weighs in favor of preliminary approval.

A. The Settlement Is the Product of Serious, Informed, Non-Collusive Negotiations

A proposed settlement is presumed to be fair and reasonable when it is the result of arms' length negotiations. City of Seattle, 955 F.2d at 1276; In re Lorazepam & Clorazepate Antitrust Litig., 205 F.R.D. 369, 375-76 (D.D.C. 2002) ("A 'presumption of fairness, adequacy, and reasonableness may attach to a class settlement reached in arm's-length negotiations'" [internal citations omitted]; In re Holocaust Victim Assets Litig., 105 F. Supp. 2d 139, 145-46 (E.D.N.Y. 2000) (determining fairness, the "consideration focuses on the negotiating process by which the settlement was reached").

As discussed above, the Settlement is the result of six months of arm's-length negotiations, including three full days of mediation, and numerous other meetings and telephone conferences between experienced counsel who had a comprehensive understanding of the strengths and weaknesses of each party's claims and defenses. The negotiations were mediated by a retired judge with substantial judicial and mediation experience in class actions. Moreover, the settlement was reached only after Plaintiffs' counsel analyzed extensive materials provided by Uber, conducted interviews of Uber employees, Uber drivers and Uber customers, and performed other meticulous investigation. Given these facts, the Settlement is non-collusive. See Chun-Hoon v. McKee Foods Corp., 716 F. Supp. 2d 848, 852 (N.D. Cal. 2010) ("[A]rms-length negotiations including a day-long mediation before [experienced private mediator] indicate[s] that the settlement was reached in a procedurally sound manner"); see also Satchell v. Fed. Express Corp., No. C 03-2659 SI, 2007 WL 1114010, at *4 (N.D. Cal. Apr. 13, 2007) ("The assistance of an experienced mediator in the settlement process confirms that the settlement is non-collusive.").

In addition, the proposed Settlement does not contain any of the "warning signs" of collusion delineated by the Ninth Circuit, such as class counsel receiving a disproportionate portion of the settlement, "clear sailing" arrangements, or reversions of funds to Defendants. Compare In re Bluetooth, 654 F.3d at 946-47; with Stip. ¶ 45 ($28.5 million non-reversionary cash payment), ¶ 88 (no agreement on attorneys' fees).

B. The Settlement Presents No Deficiencies

The meaningful injunctive relief (discussed in Section III.C, supra) alone would justify preliminary approval of this Settlement. See, e.g., In re Ferrero Litig., 583 F. App'x 665, 668 (9th Cir.

2014) (affirming settlement approval where “injunctive relief . . . [was] meaningful and consistent with the relief requested in plaintiffs’ complaint”); In re TracFone Unlimited Serv. Plan Litig., No. C-13-3440 EMC, 2015 WL 4051882, at *8 (N.D. Cal. July 2, 2015) (approving settlement where “the injunctive relief [would] have significant value for both class members and the general public”). Several of Plaintiffs’ claims seek relief under the UCL and FAL, and “the primary form of relief available under the UCL to protect consumers from unfair business practices is an injunction.” In re Tobacco II Cases, 46 Cal. 4th at 319.

In addition to the injunctive relief, the $28.5 million Settlement Fund, plus the estimated $1.875 million value resulting from Uber’s distribution of the Fund, amounts to an excellent result. This monetary consideration for a class of approximately 25 million is substantial in relation to the relatively small amount of the Safe Rides Fee charged ($1 per ride until late September 2015, and $1.12 on average from the inception of the fee through January 31, 2016). (Ahdoon Decl. ¶¶ 41-42.) And, as set forth in more detail in Section V.D.2, below, the Settlement Fund is significant compared to the maximum potential recovery that might be achieved through continued litigation.

Likewise, the Settlement is reasonable when compared to other approved class action settlements. For instance, in Fraley v. Facebook, Inc., 966 F. Supp. 2d 939, 943 (N.D. Cal. 2013), aff’d, Fraley v. Batman, No. 13-16819, 2016 WL 145984 (9th Cir. Jan. 6, 2016), the parties reached a settlement agreement prior to class certification and the court approved a settlement providing for a $20 million cash fund where the class size was estimated at 150 million Facebook members. See also In re Google Referrer Header Privacy Litig., No. 10-04809, 2015 WL 1520475 (N.D. Cal. Mar. 31, 2015) (granting final approval to $8.5 million settlement in case with estimated 129 million class members); In re Netflix Privacy Litig., No. 11-00379, 2013 WL 1120801 (N.D. Cal. Mar. 18, 2013) (granting final approval to $9 million settlement in case with estimated 62 million class members); In re Google Buzz Privacy Litig., No. 10-00672, 2011 WL 7460099 (N.D. Cal. June 2, 2011) (granting final approval to $8.5 million settlement in case with estimated 37 million class members).

In summary, given its substantial monetary and non-monetary components, the Settlement is an excellent result and presents no deficiencies.

C. The Settlement Does Not Grant Preferential Treatment to Class Representatives and Provides for a Fair Allocation of Relief to All Class Members

Under this factor, “the Court examines whether the Settlement provides preferential treatment to any class member.” Villegas v. J.P. Morgan Chase & Co., No. CV 09–00261 SBA (EMC), 2012 WL 5878390, at *7 (N.D. Cal. Nov. 21, 2012). This is a per capita settlement in which each Class Member is treated equally. This treatment is fair because the alleged misrepresentations and omissions did not distinguish between the type of Uber rideshare service (UberX, UberPOOL, etc.) being provided. Thus there is no reason to treat a rider differently based on the Uber service(s) he or she used. There also is no reason to treat riders differently based on the number of rides they took. A rider who used Uber more frequently is not any more likely to have relied on the alleged misrepresentations or omissions in the CAC, or to have suffered more damages, particularly given that the Safe Rides Fee was disclosed after the initial ride. Indeed, someone who rode more frequently may have been more influenced by his/her repeated prior experiences with Uber than with the challenged marketing. See, e.g., Chow v. Neutrogena Corp., No. CV 12-04624 R JCX, 2013 WL 5629777, at *2 (C.D. Cal. Jan. 22, 2013) (recognizing reliance problems with “repeat purchasers” as their purchase behavior could be explained by prior experience with brand as opposed to the challenged advertising).

Finally, the payment options do not result in any preferential treatment, as each Class Member has the option to elect payment to his or her Uber Payment Account or Uber Rider Account. See, e.g., Custom LED, LLC v. eBay, Inc., No. 12-CV-00350-JST, 2013 WL 6114379, at *9 (N.D. Cal. Nov. 20, 2013) (finding universal availability of cash payment option ensures that certain segments of the class would not benefit more than others from the distribution method).

D. The Settlement Falls Within the Range of Possible Approval

To determine whether a settlement “falls within the range of possible approval,” “courts primarily consider plaintiffs’ expected recovery balanced against the value of the settlement offer,” taking into account the risks of continuing litigation. In re Tableware Antitrust Litig., 484 F. Supp. 2d at 1080; see also In re: TFT-LCD (Flat Panel) Antitrust Litig., No. M 07-1827 SI, 2012 WL 12369590, at *3 (N.D. Cal. Oct. 15, 2012). The Court has discretion to preview the factors that ultimately inform final approval: (1) strength of the plaintiffs’ case; (2) risk, expense, complexity, and likely duration of further litigation; (3) risk of maintaining class action status throughout the trial; (4) amount offered in settlement; (5) extent of discovery completed and the stage of the proceedings; (6) experience and views of counsel; (7) presence of a governmental participant; and (8) reaction of class members to the proposed settlement. Churchill Village, LLC v. Gen. Elec., 361 F.3d 566, 575 (9th Cir. 2004) (citing Hanlon, 150 F.3d at 1026).

1. The Strength of Plaintiffs' Case and the Risk, Expense, Complexity, and Likely Duration of Further Litigation

The probability of success analysis is not subject to any “particular formula,” nor is the Court expected to “reach any ultimate conclusions of the contested issues of fact and law which underlie the merits of the dispute, for it is the very uncertainty of outcome in litigation and avoidance of wasteful and expensive litigation that induce consensual settlements.” Garner v. State Farm Mut. Auto. Ins. Co., 2010 WL 1687832, at *9 (N.D. Cal. Apr. 22, 2010) (quoting Rodriguez, 563 F.3d at 965, and Officers for Justice v. Civil Service Com’n of City and County of San Francisco, 688 F.2d 615, 625 (9th Cir. 1982)); see also Bellinghausen v. Tractor Supply Co., 306 F.R.D. 245, 255 (N.D. Cal. 2015). “Rather, the Court’s assessment of the likelihood of success is nothing more than an amalgam of delicate balancing, gross approximations and rough justice.” Garner, 2010 WL 1687832, at *9 (citing Officers for Justice, 688 F.2d at 625) (internal quotations omitted). Given the subjective components inherent in evaluating the potential range of recovery, “the Court may presume that through negotiation, the Parties, counsel, and mediator arrived at a reasonable range of settlement by considering Plaintiff’s likelihood of recovery.” Garner, 2010 WL 1687832, at *9 (citing Rodriguez, 563 F.3d at 965).

Approval of a class settlement is particularly appropriate when plaintiffs must overcome significant barriers to make their case. Chun-Hoon, 716 F. Supp. 2d at 851; see also Moore v. Verizon Comms. Inc., No. C 09–1823 SBA, 2013 WL 4610764, at *5 (N.D. Cal. Aug. 28, 2013) (strength of defendant’s case favored settlement because plaintiffs admitted they would face hurdles in establishing class certification, liability, and damages); Custom LED, LLC v. eBay, Inc., No. 12-CV-00350-JST, 2014 WL 2916871, at *4 (N.D. Cal. June 24, 2014) (approving settlement where plaintiff faced “significant obstacles in establishing its claims in light of the uncertainties surrounding class certification, proof of damages, and [defendant’s] numerous affirmative defenses”). While Plaintiffs are confident in the

1 strength of their claims, they also recognize that they would have to overcome significant obstacles to 2 succeed.

3 a. Plaintiffs Would have to Overcome Defendants' Forced Arbitration Provisions

4 The first significant barrier that Plaintiffs would need to overcome absent settlement is 5 Defendants' attempt to compel arbitration and enforce the class action waiver embedded in their 6 arbitration provisions. The Parties spent significant effort briefing this issue. (See, supra, Section II.B.)
7 While Plaintiffs are confident that they would ultimately prevail against Defendants' unconscionable,
8 unjust, and unconstitutional forced arbitration provision, Plaintiffs also recognize the possibility that the 9 Court or the Ninth Circuit may not share this view. If Plaintiffs were forced to proceed via individual
10 arbitration, the absent class members would receive no relief. It is also possible that the Court could rule
11 that some, but not all, class members agreed to arbitrate, which would decrease the breadth of the Class
12 and limit the Class' total potential recovery.

13 Even if the Court were to deny Uber's motion to compel arbitration in its entirety, Uber could 14 then unilaterally disseminate a new arbitration agreement that would retroactively affect all current Uber
15 customers, and which may address the deficiencies upon which the Court relied in denying the motion.
16 This is precisely what Uber did in the In Re Uber FCRA Litig., No. C-14-5200 EMC (N.D. Cal.), Nos.
17 15-17533, 16-15035 (9th Cir.), resulting in a quagmire of subsequent litigation concerning Uber's
18 arbitration provisions in agreements with drivers at the district court level and in the Ninth Circuit.

19 b. Fact Intensive Inquiries Are Pervasive

20 "Ultimately, the merits of many of Plaintiffs' claims depend largely on a fact-intensive inquiry
21 into multiple questions," presenting another factor weighing in favor of settlement approval. In re Wells
22 Fargo Loan Processor Overtime Pay Litig., No. MDL C-07-1841 EMC, 2011 WL 3352460, at *5 (N.D.
23 Cal. Aug. 2, 2011) (finding the strength of plaintiffs' claim in favor of final approval where plaintiff's 24 claims depended largely on "fact-intensive inquiries into multiple questions."); see also Lilly v. Jamba
25 Juice Co., No. 13-CV-02998-JST, 2015 WL 2062858, at *3 (N.D. Cal. May 4, 2015).

26 Plaintiffs' contention that Defendants charge fees for safe rides and then do not use those 27 revenues to fund effective safety measures (e.g., CAC ¶¶ 8-12) involves consideration of facts regarding 28 the amount, and effectiveness, of Defendants' safety-related expenditures, including insurance,

1 background checks, vehicle inspections and other alleged safety measures.

2 Plaintiffs' claims regarding Defendants' background checks (e.g., CAC ¶¶ 45-46) also will
3 require the resolution of fact-intensive inquiries, including the effectiveness of the background check
4 process and whether Defendants' representations or omissions regarding background checks are true or 5 misleading. In support of their defenses, Plaintiffs expect that Defendants would present evidence and 6 arguments that: (i) their background check process includes discovery of numerous crimes and 7 infractions that are not included in Live Scan related database(s), so even when the applicant was 8 charged without finger printing (which might occur with some infractions relevant to driving safety),
9 Defendants can catch infractions that a Live Scan check tethered to a fingerprint criminal database might 10 miss; and (ii) that Uber's safety standards are often stricter than those employed by companies providing 11 transportation services. (Ahdoot Decl. ¶ 56-61.) See also <https://www.sfmta.com/services/taxi-
12 industry/become-taxi-driver> (last visited Feb. 5, 2016) (indicating one can become a licensed cab 13 driver in San Francisco despite one recent DUI).

14 Plaintiffs also expect that Defendants would present evidence that the Uber platform provides 15 safety features that are not available with other services, such as: (i) the Uber App allows riders to 16 request a ride directly from their phones and wait safely inside for the car to arrive; (ii) the Uber App
17 typically displays the driver's name, picture, license plate number, and vehicle make and model so that 18 riders know they are entering the right vehicle; (iii) the Uber App allows riders to check other riders'
19 experiences with the driver; (iv) the Uber App anonymizes phone numbers so that, while riders and 20 drivers can communicate about the pick-up, neither can learn the personal information of the other; (v)
21 the Uber App tracks riders' and drivers' current location, allowing riders to know where they are on 22 their journey and permitting riders to share their route and estimated time of arrival with family and 23 friends; (vi) by keeping a record of the route taken for every ride, the Uber App creates accountability
24 and an incentive for good behavior; and (vii) the Uber App allows for cashless transactions, which 25 protects both riders and Drivers from becoming targets for robbery. (Ahdoot Decl. ¶ 55.)

26 Plaintiffs' claims based on nondisclosure of the Safe Rides Fee would likewise involve 27 numerous fact-intensive inquiries. Defendants would likely argue that they adequately disclosed the 28 Safe Rides Fee, and Defendants likely would proffer evidence that wherever they disclosed fares, they also disclosed the Safe Rides Fee, including as a line item on receipts, and on Uber's website. (Id. ¶ 64.) While Plaintiffs assert that the title of the Safe Rides Fee itself constitutes an actionable misrepresentation, Defendants would likely argue that many Class Members did not rely on the representation, and that it is permissible puffery. In addition, the CAC's allegations in this regard are premised on a variety of misrepresentations, potentially raising more fact-intensive inquiries regarding which Class Members were exposed to which alleged misrepresentations.

Plaintiffs' breach of implied contract claims also require fact-intensive inquiries. Plaintiffs expect that Defendants will argue that there was no breach because: (i) their safety-related representations are accurate; and (ii) Defendants expend significant sums on viable safety features (Defendants will argue they spent more on safety-related features than they collected from Safe Rides Fees). Defendants also are likely to argue that individualized inquiries are required into whether a valid contract was formed for particular class members or groups of class members. Although Plaintiffs disagree, this could pose an additional hurdle at class certification.

c. Continued Litigation Would Present Risks Establishing Liability and Damages

In evaluating the Settlement, the Court should consider "the risk of continued litigation balanced against the certainty and immediacy of recovery from the Settlement." In re Omnivision, 559 F. Supp. 2d 1036, 1041 (N.D. Cal. 2008) (citing In re Mego Financial Corp. Sec. Litig., 213 F.3d 454, 458 (9th Cir. 2000)). This is particularly true in cases, like this one, which involve significant uncertainty and the potential for years of litigation and costly appeals. See, e.g., Rodriguez, 563 F.3d at 966 (favoring settlement where "[i]n evitable appeals would likely prolong the litigation, and any recovery by class members, for years"); Ching v. Siemens Indus., Inc., No. 11-cv-04838-MEJ, 2014 WL 2926210, at *4 (N.D. Cal. June 27, 2014) ("Generally, unless the settlement is clearly inadequate, its acceptance and approval are preferable to lengthy and expensive litigation with uncertain results.") (citation omitted).

If the Settlement is not approved, this action will proceed to intense litigation and possibly trial and appeal. Plaintiffs and Defendants vehemently disagree about the merits of Plaintiffs' claims. However, regardless of each Party's respective position, there is uncertainty about the ultimate outcome of this action and proceeding with this litigation poses various risks such as forced arbitration, no certification, decertification, loss on the merits, and loss on appeal, all of which would be extremely 1 costly and time-consuming to fully litigate.

2 d. Continued Litigation Would Present Risks Regarding Certification

3 Another factor in the settlement calculus is the risk that Defendants could successfully oppose 4 class certification. Churchill, 361 F.3d at 575 (holding that courts should consider “the risk of 5 maintaining class action status throughout the trial” at the approval stage). Plaintiffs believe that class
6 certification is appropriate in this action and that the Court should certify the Class for settlement
7 purposes. However, Plaintiffs are cognizant of the risk that the Court may not certify a class at all, may 8 not certify all claims asserted in the CAC, or may limit the size of any class.

9 For instance, even if Plaintiffs obtain favorable rulings on Defendants’ arbitration motions, the 10 arbitration issue could arguably undermine Plaintiffs’ ability to demonstrate commonality and 11 predominance. Plaintiffs do not believe that this argument has merit, but some courts have held that 12 class certification should be denied where the enforceability of an arbitration agreement varies by class
13 member. See, e.g., Lozano v. AT&T Wireless Servs., Inc., 504 F.3d 718, 728 (9th Cir. 2007) (class
14 certification should be denied where enforceability of arbitration would vary depending on class
15 members’ state of residence); In re Titanium Dioxide Antitrust Litig., 962 F. Supp. 2d 840, 861-63 (D.
16 Md. 2013) (denying certification where “individual questions of law and fact as to the enforcement of 17 [arbitration] provisions of class members’ contracts predominate”).

18 Defendants will likely contend that their registration process varies depending on how the user
19 registered (via the App or the website), what type of smartphone he or she had, and which version of the 20 website or App he or she used. See, e.g., Mena Dkt. Nos. 31-36. These variables could affect whether a 21 user had adequate notice of the arbitration agreement depending on how this notice was displayed
22 during the registration process. Even Plaintiffs’ opposition to the arbitration motions recognized that the 23 assent inquiry may hinge on idiosyncratic features of each user and his or her smartphone, such as its 24 screen size and the user’s preferred brightness settings. See Mena Dkt. No. 37 at 11-22. In light of these,
25 and similar, considerations, this Court or the Ninth Circuit might ultimately conclude that individualized 26 questions predominate over any common questions.

27 Finally, even if Plaintiffs are successful in gaining certification of their claims, the class certified 28 may ultimately be smaller than the nationwide Class asserted in the CAC and to whom the Settlement will confer its benefits. See, e.g., Mazza v. Am. Honda Motor Co., 666 F.3d 581 (9th Cir. 2012).

2. Defendants' Payment of $28.5 Million Is Significant Compared to the Maximum Potential Recovery Available

In addition to injunctive relief—including, as noted above, Defendants' agreement to stop charging any fees labeled or described as a "Safe Rides Fee"—the Settlement would require Defendants to pay $28.5 million to the Class. "[C]ompar[ing] the settlement amount to the parties' 'estimates of the maximum amount of damages recoverable in a successful litigation'" suggests the Settlement merits approval. Glass v. UBS Fin. Servs., Inc., No. C-06-4068 MMC, 2007 WL 221862, at *4 (N.D. Cal. Jan. 26, 2007) aff'd, 331 F. App'x 452 (9th Cir. 2009) (quoting, In re Mego, 213 F.3d at 459).

Without any discount for the significant risks of continued litigation, including arbitration, class certification, and Defendants' defenses on the merits, Plaintiffs estimate the maximum potential recovery available if they were successful on all of their claims, including their breach of implied contract claims on behalf of a nationwide class, at $132 million (or approximately $5.33 per Class Member). (Ahdoot Decl., ¶¶ 70-78.) This figure makes aggressive assumptions about revenues that could be recovered and ignores many of the safety-related costs that Defendants have identified. (Id. ¶ 76.) The $28.5 million Settlement Fund amounts to approximately 21.55% of this estimated maximum potential recovery.

This amount is fair, especially given the substantial risks that Plaintiffs would face prior to and at trial. Indeed, many courts have approved settlement values well below this range. See, e.g., Custom LED, 2014 WL 2916871, at *4 ("[C]ourts have held that a recovery of only 3% of the maximum potential recovery is fair and reasonable when the plaintiffs face a real possibility of recovering nothing absent the settlement."); In re OmniVision Techs., 559 F. Supp. 2d at 1042 (6% of potential damages); In re LDK Solar Secs. Litig., No. 07-5182 WHA, 2010 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 87168 at *7 (N.D. Cal. July 29, 2010) (5% of potential damages); In re Heritage Bond Litig., No. 02-ML-1475-DT, 2005 WL 1594389, at *8-9 (C.D. Cal. June 10, 2005) (median amount recovered in securities class action settlements was 2.7% in 2002, 2.8% in 2003, 2.3% in 2004).

The monetary component of the Settlement is significant compared to the maximum potential recovery available, suggesting the Settlement merits approval.

1 3. Class Counsel Performed Sufficient Research and Analysis to Adequately
2 Assess the Settlement and the Strengths and Weaknesses of the Class’
3 Claims

4 “This factor evaluates whether the parties have sufficient information to make an informed 5 decision about settlement.” Larsen v. Trader Joe’s Co., No. 11-cv-05188-WHO, 2014 WL 3404531, at 6 *5 (N.D. Cal. July 11, 2014) (internal quotations omitted). “In the context of class action settlements, as 7 long as the parties have sufficient information to make an informed decision about settlement, formal 8 discovery is not a necessary ticket to the bargaining table.” Bellinghausen, 306 F.R.D. at 257 (internal 9 quotations omitted). “Rather, the court’s focus is on whether the parties carefully investigated the claims
10 before reaching a resolution.” Id. (internal quotations omitted).

11 Here, Plaintiffs requested, received, and reviewed extensive documents and information from 12 Defendants. See Section II.E, supra. Plaintiffs fully understand the merits of this case, and this factor 13 weighs in favor of settlement.

14 4. The Recommendations of Experienced Class Counsel Favor Approval

15 “Where a settlement is the product of arms-length negotiations conducted by capable and 16 experienced counsel, the court begins its analysis with a presumption that the settlement is fair and 17 reasonable.” Garner, 2010 WL 1687832, at *13; see also Nat’l Rural Telecomm. Coop. v. DIRECTV, 18 Inc., 221 F.R.D. 523, 528 (C.D. Cal. 2004) (great weight given to the recommendation of counsel who 19 are the most closely acquainted with the facts of the litigation). Plaintiffs’ counsel have broad 20 experience litigating and trying consumer and class action cases. In their view, the Settlement provides 21 substantial benefits to the Class, especially when one considers the attendant expense, risks, delays, and 22 uncertainties of litigation, trial and post-trial proceedings. (Ahdoot Decl., ¶ 69; Arias Decl., ¶ 23, Dkt.
23 78; Coulson Decl. ¶¶ 16-17, Dkt. 77.)

24 VI. THE PROPOSED FORM AND METHOD OF NOTICE IS THE BEST NOTICE
25 PRACTICABLE AND SHOULD BE APPROVED

26 Class notice must be “reasonably calculated, under all the circumstances, to apprise interested 27 parties of the pendency of the action and afford them an opportunity to present their objections.”
28 Mullane v. Central Hanover Trust, 339 U.S. 306, 314 (1950). Notice must clearly and concisely state the following, in plain, easily understood language: (i) the nature of the action; (ii) the class definition; (iii) the class claims; (iv) that a class member may enter an appearance through an attorney; (v) that the court will exclude from the class any member who requests exclusion; (vi) the time and manner for requesting exclusion; and (vii) the binding effect of a class judgment on members. Fed. R. Civ. P. 23(c)(2)(B).

Here, the proposed notice program will include direct notice to virtually all Class Members, and at a minimum is designed to reach 80% of the Class, which is reasonable under the circumstances. (Stip. Ex. I ¶¶ 27-28.) Moreover, the Summary Notice and Long Form Notice are written in clear and concise language and contain the information required by Rule 23(c)(2)(B). (Id. ¶ 39.) Accordingly, the forms of notice and plan of dissemination should be approved.

VII. THE COURT SHOULD SET A SCHEDULE FOR FINAL APPROVAL

In connection with the preliminary approval of the Settlement, the Court must set a final approval hearing date, dates for dissemination of notice to the Class, deadlines for objecting to the Settlement, opting out of the Class, and filing papers in support of the Settlement. Plaintiffs propose the schedule included in the Notice of Motion, above, and set forth in the concurrently filed [Proposed] Preliminary Approval Order. (Stip. Ex. D.)

VIII. CONCLUSION

The proposed Settlement is fair, presents no obvious deficiencies, and falls within the range of possible approval. Plaintiffs therefore request that the Court grant preliminary approval and enter an order substantially in the form of the accompanying [Proposed] Preliminary Approval Order. (Id.)
